EDITORIAL BOARD

For the names, addresses, and emails of the editorial board members, please see the inner front cover of the journal, or visit our website at <http://www.jerria.com>.

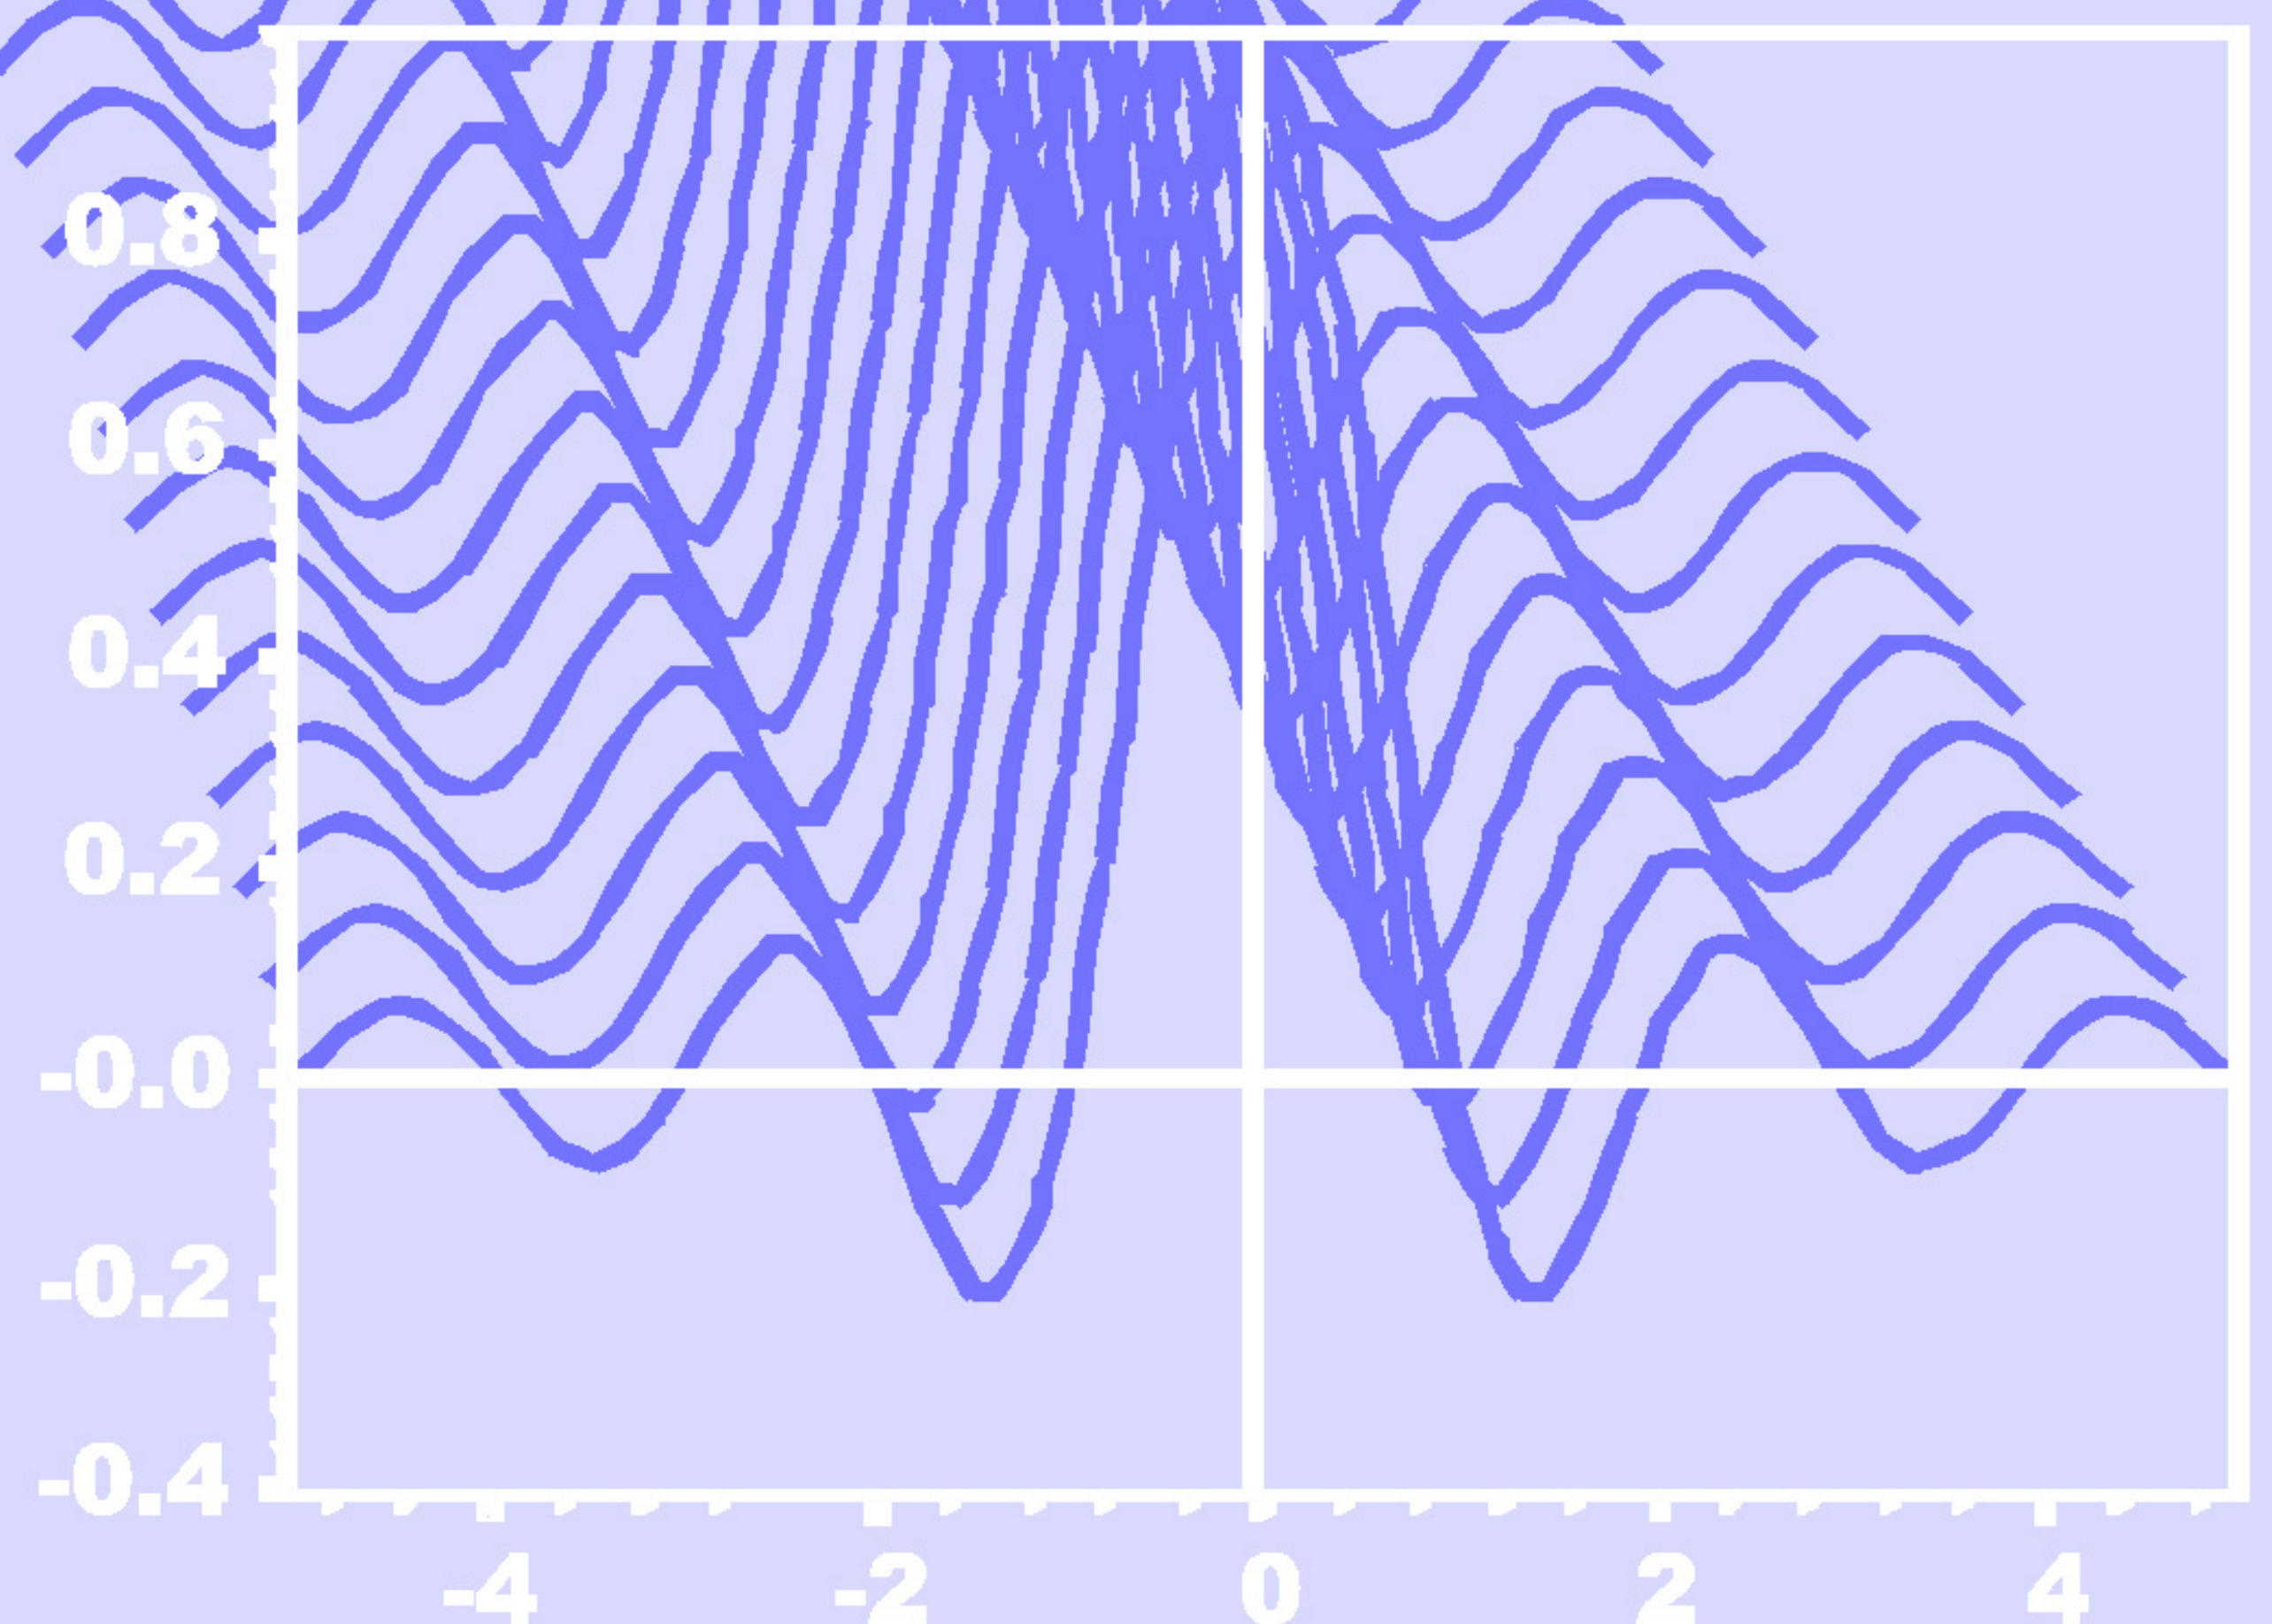

Sampling Theory in Signal and Image Processing (ISSN: 1530-6429) is published in January, May and September. It publishes refereed, well-written original research articles on the development and applications of sampling and interpolation theory, wavelets, tomography, the Gibbs phenomenon, and other closely related topics. Applications in signal and image processing with Fourier analysis or wavelets are particularly welcome. To be published in this journal, a paper must be correct, non-trivial, novel, and of interest to a large number of our readers. Occasionally, the journal will publish high quality survey and expository articles.
